About Us

Housing refers to the development of living facilities for people. The UN housing policy guideline for developing countries states that the concept of housing is more than merely a physical shell. Housing encompasses all auxiliary services and community facilities which are necessary to human beings. As a basic need housing is a fundamental human right. In Bangladesh existence of human settlements or housing have been found as early as prehistoric times. Since then style and pattern of housing have evolved in adaptation to environmental, economic and social needs and guided by climatic and geographical locations.

Tenant management is quite simply the organization of your renters, rent payments, maintenance, documents, and processes. You'll want to create a repeatable, reliable process to help you stay organized. Great organization not only keeps your property running smoothly but it keeps tenants happy.
